

WARSHAFSKY, ROTTER, TARNOFF & BLOCH, SC

Hard work, pragmatism and dedication to a higher calling have always been hallmarks of Warshafsky, Rotter, Tarnoff & Bloch, which has won verdicts that have resulted in safer, better lives for not only its clients, but for everyone.

Thanks to the firm's passionate, committed attorneys, consumers are no longer exposed to several hazardous drugs and pharmaceuticals. There are safer cars on the road. Injured people receive their day in court.

Those are only a few of the reasons an impressive seven of the firm's attorneys have been named to the Super Lawyers® list. They are: Gerald J. Bloch, Frank T. Crivello II, Victor C. Harding, Ann S. Jacobs, Michael I. Tarnoff, Ted M. Warshafsky and David L. Weir.

An aggressive, respected boutique firm, Warshafsky focuses exclusively on personal injury, medical malpractice, automobile accidents, workers' compensation, products liability, wrongful death suits and other cases in which consumers need a champion in court. From when the firm's early roots were planted 50 years ago, serving the needs of ordinary citizens has been its guiding principle.

CLIENTS AND COMMUNITY FIRST

"We only represent plaintiffs," Jacobs says. "Lawyers across the state send their clients to us because we're strong litigators in and out of court."

In the community, the firm continues to help people with its pro-bono work. The firm also established a charitable foundation that gives scholarships to young people in need in Milwaukee. Warshafsky supports a number of groups, including Milwaukee Athletes Against Childhood Cancer, the Southern Poverty Law Center, Trial Lawyers for Public Justice and the League of Martin, an organization for African-American police officers.

A trusted and successful source of legal expertise, the firm boasts five past presidents of Wisconsin's Academy of Lawyers. Several members have been named to The Best Lawyers in America. Jacobs has been named to the Top 25 Women list in Super Lawyers.

The firm's philosophy is simple: Put clients and community first.
